SUMMARY

s.1 The Practice Manual of Noble Tārā Kurukullā is the most comprehensive single work on the female Buddhist deity Kurukullā. It is also the only canonical scripture to focus on this deity. The text's importance is therefore commensurate with the importance of the goddess herself, who is the chief Buddhist deity of magnetizing, in particular the magnetizing which takes the form of enthrallment.

The text is a treasury of ritual practices connected with enthrallment and similar magical acts—practices which range from formal sādhana to traditional homa ritual, and to magical methods involving herbs, minerals, etc. The text's varied contents are presented as a multi-layered blend of the apotropaic and the soteriological, as well as the practical and the philosophical, where these complementary opposites combine together into a genuinely spiritual Buddhist work.

INTRODUCTION

i.1 The very foundation of all Buddhist paths is the recognition of the unsatisfactory nature of saṃsāra, the cycle of conditioned existence, and the quest for liberation from it. Building upon that basis, the Great Vehicle holds that saṃsāra and nirvāṇa are indeed inseparable and that the goal of all practice must be the liberation from suffering, not only of oneself, but of all other beings. It is a debated point as to whether tantra has its own unique view. Where there is unanimity, however, is that the path of the tantras adds a panoply of methods that enable the practitioner to achieve the goal of the Great Vehicle swiftly and effectively.

The tantras are concerned principally with the stages of "deity yoga." With the guidance of a skilled teacher and after suitable preliminary training and empowerment, the practitioner is introduced to, and subsequently trains in recognizing, the divine nature of the world and its inhabitants. This is symbolically centered on the generation of the deity as the embodiment of enlightenment in one of its many aspects—a depiction in terms of form, sound, and imagination of the very goal to which the practitioner aspires. Through various modes of such practice, which differ according to the different levels of tantra, the practitioner is able to recognize, access, and actualize his or her own innately enlightened nature.

The female deity Kurukullā, whose practice is the subject matter of this text, has a particular place and orientation amid the pantheon of meditational deities. Like all deities, she is a personification of buddhahood in its entirety. As a female deity, she is understood to embody the wisdom aspect of enlightenment (i.e., emptiness), and as a form of the savioress Tārā, herself a manifestation of Avalokiteśvara, she personifies all-embracing compassion. But her particular quality is related to the "activity" of enlightenment. Many Great Vehicle scriptures describe the spontaneous and effortless activity of buddhas for the benefit of beings. In Vajrayāna that enlightened activity is spoken of in terms of four modes, or types, of activity: pacifying, enriching, magnetizing, and destroying. It is the third of these, magnetizing, that is the special field of Kurukullā, and it is to deploy that particular quality of enlightenment that a practitioner would undertake her practice.

i.

i.3

i.4

While there are as many as thirty-seven Kurukullā sādhana liturgies included in the Tengyur, and many more in the indigenous Tibetan literature, the text translated here is the only work in the Kangyur that focuses on Kurukullā. Rather than being a systematic presentation of one form of practice, it takes the form of a compendium of varied elementsranging from formal sādhanas to traditional fire offering ritual, and to magical recipes and methods involving herbs, minerals, and other ingredients—from which a practitioner might draw in order to constitute a range of Kurukullā-centered practices. The text's varied contents are presented as a multilayered blend of the apotropaic and the soteriological, as well as the practical and the philosophical.

The text's pattern of contents is in keeping with the term kalpa that figures in the title. An ancient meaning of the word kalpa, already found in the Rgveda, is "sacred rule" or "precept," applying, in particular, to ritual procedures. As such, the scriptures that carry this term in their title are mostly ritual compendia or manuals of ritual practice. With the emergence of Vajrayāna a number of these works appeared, such as the Mañjuśrīmūlakalpa, the Kurukullākalpa, and the Vajravārāhīkalpa. As these titles might then suggest, they are ritual compendia for their specific deities.

The word kalpa derives from the root klp, which means "to prepare" or "to arrange." This meaning is also reflected in the contents of the works that belong to this genre—they are primarily concerned with the technicalities of the ritual rather than with philosophical debate about the principles involved. This is not to say, however, that the latter is altogether absent. Genre-wise, kalpas are closely related to tantras, inasmuch as they are divinely revealed by the Buddha or one of the great bodhisattvas, such as Avalokiteśvara or Vajrapāņi. Moreover, both kalpas and tantras are concerned with a particular deity, or set of deities, and aim to guide the practitioner in the rituals and practices related to that deity.

i.7

The Tibetan version of *The Practice Manual of Noble Tārā Kurukullā*¹ is structured into five chapters, whereas the Sanskrit has essentially the same content, structured into eight. Chapter 1 begins with the statement of its authenticity, and for this the text declares that it is a direct literary descendant of the tantra of The Arising of Tārā (Tārodbhava). These Kurukullā teachings, as found in our text, were given by Lord Avalokitesvara on the Potala mountain, in response to a plea by a female audience consisting of different classes of semidivine beings. Responding to their request, Avalokitesvara begins to explain Kurukulla worship and its requisites, which include the drawing of the deity's image (Kurukullā in her fourarmed, seated form), the eighteenfold pūjā, the mantra, and the gathering offering. The main three benefits of this practice are the ability to enthrall beings, to increase wisdom, and to remove poison.

i.6

These benefits all have a spiritual dimension if the practitioners possess a bodhisattva attitude: with loving kindness they will be able to control wild animals, with compassion they will deliver the entire world from pain, and by becoming identical with Tārā-Kurukullā, they will be able to provide assistance to beings in need. The practice of compassionate virtue is the key to this success.

i.9

i.8

In Chapter 2 there follows a description of the sādhana of the wishfulfilling tree, through which one makes offerings to the buddhas and provides sentient beings with all that they need. This sādhana of the wishfulfilling tree is followed by the main sādhana of the Kurukullākalpa. It is introduced by the statement that the mind is the sole "reality," and because this is so, the key to attaining buddhahood is the cleansing of the mirror of mind. The means by which to accomplish this cleansing is this very sādhana. As it follows the formal structure of a typical Yoginītantra sādhana with its prayers, worship, visualizations, etc., it is unnecessary to recount here all the traditional details.

After summoning the "wisdom being," one requests an empowerment, and along with the empowerment one is given the injunctions regarding the follow-up practice. The sign of success is that the lotus-mudrā formed with one's hands at the end of the six-month practice period will burst into flames. By proceeding as described, the practitioner will attain the three enlightened bodies and will thereby be able to enact the great deeds of the Buddha.

i.11 At this point in the text, there is an interruption in the descriptions of the empowerment and of the samaya-pledges (which are resumed much later in the text), and we have instead a discourse, given by Vajrapāṇi, on the three enlightened bodies, followed by a Nāgārjuna-style exposition of the doctrine of emptiness. When asked how the mudrās, mantras, maṇḍalas, and siddhis should be interpreted in the context of emptiness, Varjapāṇi explains that they too are part of the chain of dependent origination—i.e., that the accomplishments are achieved in dependence on the mudrās, the mantras, and so forth.

i.12

Chapter 3 begins with a section containing various methods and related information on the main types of Kurukullā activity—enthralling, increasing wisdom, and removing poison—with discussion of the deeper spiritual implications of these three acts. We are told what materials should be used as mālā beads for these three types of activity, and are given specific instructions on the lighting of sacrificial fires (the shape of the fire pit, the type of firewood, etc.) and on the substances used as offerings. Some methods further described involve medicinal plants and other materials. The teacher also points out the more profound purposes: by enthralling beings with the mind of loving kindness one can establish all of them in enlightenment, by increasing intelligence one can attain the perfection of wisdom and achieve liberation, and by removing poison one brings peace to the world.

i.13

i.15

Further, we are given instructions on the method of visualizing the syllable *hrī*h (the seed syllable of Kurukullā) on different parts of the body and told the benefits arising from that: if it is on the clitoris, then enthrallment will follow; if on the chest, wisdom will increase; if between the teeth, one will remove poison. Connections are explained between the removal of faults of the body, speech, and mind, and the acts of enthrallment, removing poison, and increasing wisdom, respectively. There is also a connection between removing poison (in the spiritual sense) and increasing wisdom. When the poison of ignorance is neutralized, desire is pure wisdom. It is explained that the goddess Pāṇḍarā (implicitly identified with Kurukullā) is, in essence, desire. Her nondual passion is, however, completely free from poison and thus none other than wisdom.

i.14 The section on these different methods ends with a description of other Kurukullā magical practices, mostly for bringing results other than the main three outcomes specified above. These include a yantra for warding off snakes, amulets for enthrallment and protection, and rituals for bringing wealth with the help of drawings or a cowrie shell (the latter is also said to help one obtain a kingdom or even win at dice).

In Chapter 4 we return to the description of the empowerment and the samaya ritual. This includes the description of the Kurukullā maṇḍala and the divination wherein a flower is tossed into the maṇḍala. After the divination, the initiand is told to observe secrecy regarding their practice and is given the samaya injunctions. The practitioner is instructed to rely on red substances, abstain from nonvirtue, accomplish all the qualities associated with the perfections, and respect and pay homage to all women.

i.16 Once the samaya has been received, the four empowerments are bestowed, using water from the four jars of "the arrow," "the bow," "fearlessness," and "the lotus." An offering maṇḍala is described, with eight pitchers containing precious substances, along with a "pitcher of victory." The disciple, suitably attired, is ushered into the maṇḍala and taught a secret method to control the nāgas. The Kurukullā dhāraņī is now given—a lengthy formula aimed at bringing rain and prosperity. Further methods involving interaction with nāgas are also described—for stopping excessive rain, for curing leprosy and snakebites, and also for magically summoning and enthralling nāga women.

i.17

Chapter 5 contains three nidāna stories, which are accounts of situations that prompted the Buddha to give the Kurukullā teachings. The first story is about the Buddha's son, Rāhula, who, while being "pulled" (i.e., subjected to a particular kind of magic) by a nāga, recites the Kurukullā mantra and is miraculously transported into the Buddha's presence. Witnessing thus the power of Kurukullā's mantra, he requests from the Buddha the Kurukullā teachings.

The second story is about Mahākāla and Hārītī. Mahākāla, not being happy in his marriage with the ill-tempered demoness Hārītī, neglects his duty to protect the teachings. The Kurukullākalpa is then taught to help Hārītī enthrall Mahākāla, and in this way mend things between these two unhappy lovers. As this is successfully accomplished, great happiness ensues.

i.19 The third story is about Rohinīkumāra, a boy who, although born with auspicious marks, is dull-witted. His father asks the Buddha about possible ways to increase Rohinikumāra's intelligence, and in response the Buddha teaches the boy the Kurukullākalpa. As a result, Rohinīkumāra acquires great learning and wisdom.

The next section treats of alchemy (applied in combination with the Kurukullā mantra), which, as may be expected, is meant to bring the accomplishments of sky-travel and longevity. Here we find instructions on (1) producing a mercury preparation that will enable the alchemist to fly through the sky as well as give him the power to enthrall women, (2) producing silver using a specially processed mercury (this is meant to lead, eventually, to the ultimate benefit for oneself and others), and (3) attaining the accomplishment of longevity by employing special plant-preparations.

The last part of chapter 5 describes the magical use of herbs and other substances (in combination with the Kurukullā mantra), as well as amulets, yantras, and other practices, which may be described as magical. Some of these means include an ointment protecting one from wild elephants; a paste, which, when smeared on shoes, will enable the wearer to walk on water; an incense for the well-being of monks; an ointment to stop children from vomiting breast-milk; inscribed amulets affording protection and bringing good fortune; an amulet to be worn on one's forearm to bring wealth; an alms bowl inscribed with the Kurukullā mantra, which enables the owner to procure alms in a place where they are difficult to obtain; various methods of enthrallment; a method to prevent miscarriage; methods to ensure easy childbirth; remedies for breast diseases; practices meant to prevent premature graying of the hair; a paste meant to help women secrete

i.18

i.21

vaginal lubrication (for pleasurable lovemaking); a remedy for premature ejaculation; a method for putting out a fire by sprinkling it with wine; and enthrallment methods involving yantra. Other wished-for results include obtaining a fine son, healing different types of fever, curing eye diseases, overcoming impotence, and finding buried treasures. Finally, the closing passages of the chapter once more ground the text and its teaching in the compassion of Avalokiteśvara, and beyond him in the infinite activity of the buddhas throughout space and time.

i.22

The final colophon in the Tibetan text gives the names of its two translators: the Indian Kṛṣṇapaṇḍita and the Tibetan Tsültrim Gyalwa (1011– ca. 1068), also known as Naktso Lotsawa. The latter was a prolific translator who was sent to India to invite the Indian master Atiśa Dipaṃkāraśrījñāna (982–1054), met and studied with him at the monastic university of Vikramaśīla, and accompanied him on his journey to Tibet. With Atīśa and Kṛṣṇapaṇḍita, Tsültrim Gyalwa translated numerous classical texts of both sūtra and mantra.

i.23 This English translation was prepared on the basis of the readings of the Degé Kangyur found in the Comparative (dpe bsdur ma) edition. The translation emerged in a process of continuous reference to a critical edition of the extant Sanskrit manuscripts and an English translation from the Sanskrit already prepared by one of the collaborators in this project.² As the various Sanskrit manuscripts of the Kurukullā are not readily available and present important variants, we have decided to include the critical edition as an appendix to this translation.

While endeavoring to produce a rendering of The Practice Manual of Noble Tārā Kurukullā informed by the full range of available Sanskrit and Tibetan manuscripts and editions, we have nevertheless retained the primary objective of translating here the Tibetan text contained in the Degé Kangyur. Where the Tibetan text is open to multiple interpretations, the English translation follows the Sanskrit manuscripts whenever this can be done while staying within the field of meanings conveyed by the Degé text. In general, words in Sanskrit have been reconstructed on the basis of the Sanskrit manuscripts rather than the Tibetan transliterations. Where the translation diverges from the explicit message of the Tibetan manuscript, the discrepancies have been noted. There are numerous further instances where the Tibetan and Sanskrit texts differ. These can be appreciated through a comparison with the forthcoming annotated translation from the Sanskrit.

The Translation

The Practice Manual of Noble Tārā Kurukullā

CHAPTER 1

[F.29.b]

1.1 Homage to noble Mañjuśrī, the youthful one. Homage to the noble goddess, Tārā.

> The tantra of The Arising of Tārā is an ocean of yogic practice. Although its scripture and practice manual had declined and disappeared, There was The Meditative Absorption of Tārā, chief among tantras. Once that, too, became lost, this practice manual appeared.

1.2 For the sake of many beings, and as a compendium of the tantras That elaborately teach the yogic practices, Lokeśvāra, Lord of the World, taught this manual of practice.

Listen, all bodhisattvas!

- 1.3 This method that benefits all beingsIs based on seeing that the world is without refuge,And tormented by the three types of suffering.Receive this with great reverence!
- 1.4 In order to pacify the concepts of the world, All buddhas teach this manual of practice. On the holy Potala mountain, Mañjuśrī, Padmapāņi, Jaya,
- 1.5 Sarvanivaraṇaviṣkambhin, Sāgaramati,
 Maitreya, and others—the full gathering—
 All heard these words of the Dharma,
 Rejoiced, and bowed their heads to the ground in veneration.
- 1.6 The children of the victorious ones mastered it and praised it;

They worshiped it with song, melody, And various types of dance. Yakṣas, rākṣasas, the world of ghosts,

- 1.7 Various maidens, the heavenly bodies, Thunderbolt bearers, lords of the earth, Nāga girls who live in the billowing seas Where they cast coquettish glances,
- 1.8 The guardians of the nether world, and the daughters of the surasiddhas these all worshiped.
 Gandharva queens with eye-catching breasts,
 Female knowledge holders, kinnarīs,
 Himavat's daughters, as well as others, all spoke in this way:
- 1.9 "For us there is no refuge.
 Yet this teaching of the Buddha is the refuge for those who have none.
 Protector of those without a refuge, protector of the world, [F.30.a]
 You engender bliss and great wonder about this teaching."
- 1.10 The Lord, hearing these words of the assembly,Pronounced the secret mantra, which he himself mastered,And upon hearing this king of mantras, all the females thereExperienced numerous forms of the bliss of final buddhahood.
- 1.11 By the touch of the vajra their bodies released the juice, And casting sidelong glances, They impatiently stamped their feet on the ground. Carried away by the bliss of passion, they let their juices flow.
- 1.12 May the Protector observe this and dispense
 Timely words to these celestial girls—
 The mantra of Kurukullā that enthralls wandering beings—
 And the practice of painting in combination with this mantra.
- 1.13 When the Blessed One, the Protector of the World, had proclaimed his intent, He, the Master of the World, began to teach the stages of the ritual: The method for creating an image of Kurukullā, The mere painting of which
- 1.14 Brings fruition to the practitioner, I will now explain in full.Who can create the picture? On which day of the month and at which hour?

- 1.15 That I shall now explain
 In accordance with the prescriptions of The Arising of Tārā.
 The one who paints the picture
 Should have reddish eyes,
- 1.16 As well as red hands and feet,Eyes like those of a bird, and the legs of a black antelope.It is such a person who shall draw the Savioress.In the first month of spring,
- 1.17 On the eighth day of Caitra, Halfway through the second watch— This is when the eyes of Tārā should be drawn. The artist must eat the three sweets
- 1.18 And abstain from fish, meat, and alcohol.Always dressed in red,He must be smeared with a red fragrant paste.Having brought forth a mind of loving-kindness,
- 1.19 He should bathe at dawn in a sanctified location.Then, having changed into a garment of three pieces,He should correctly draw The Enchantress:Single-faced, with elongated eyes,
- 1.20 Four-armed and of the color of kunkuma,Sixteen years old and displaying an amorous sentiment,And puffed up with pride on account of her magical feminine charm.
- 1.21 The canvas should be woven with thread spun by a female of fair complexion. Both she and the weaver should eat milk-porridge.

Upon a lotus seat, wearing an upper garment of red cloth, jewel earrings, and a jewel diadem, [F.30.b] she displays the mudrā granting fearlessness with her lower right hand, and with her second right hand holds an arrow that she draws to the tip of her ear.³ In her upper left hand she holds a bow, and in the second left, a red utpala. Crowned by Amitābha, dwelling in a cave in the mountains, she is Kurukullā.

Below Kurukullā is Rāhu, and above him, Kāmadeva with his spouse. Above Kāmadeva there is a moon disk, and upon the moon disk a red lotus seat. On this seat one must paint the Blessed Lady with all her beautiful features, and then consecrate her image. In front of the painting, from the eighth through the full moon day, one should perform the eighteenfold pūjā, and recite the mantra. This is the heart essence of Tārā: This is the mantra. Having done the preliminary propitiation consisting of one hundred thousand recitations, next, on a buddha-day in the month of Kārttika, Vaiśakha, or Āṣāḍha, having bathed at dawn and observed the restoration of vows ceremony, the practitioner should offer a complete pūjā.

He should present a feast for the congregation of listeners, and next offer a feast with gifts for the community of those practicing the secret mantra of the Great Vehicle. Placing his right knee on the ground, and with his robe thrown over one shoulder, he should receive the desired accomplishments. He should salute and ask the pardon of the sangha of listeners and the community of those who delight in the Great Vehicle.

Having gone to the place where the painting of the Blessed Lady is displayed, this knowledge holder should, for the sake of the desired accomplishments, enter meditation and recite the mantra one hundred thousand times for each of its syllables.

With the first third, insight increases; With the second third, enthrallment is achieved; And with the final third, The person will also neutralize poison.

- 1.22 By mad and haughty women, and by the entire world, This practitioner will be honored.Because of familiarity with the practice, this mantra holder [F.31.a] May do as he wishes with beautiful goddesses.
- 1.23 The mere sound of his name will cause those of incomparable poison to flee, And even those as brilliant as the leader of the hooded will become just like a fish.

Those who engage in recitation, by means of their power of speech, Render speechless even the experts who possess the majestic power of spells.

- 1.24 Holders of mantra, who ride elephants and horses,
 Embraced by their beautiful consorts who clasp their necks—
 These are conquered by the power of the best among mantra-adepts.
 Their minds partake of the pleasures of perfect kingdoms.
- 1.25 Rati from Kāmadeva and Pārvatī from Śiva;⁴
 Similarly, Śrī from Nārāyaņa, Śacī from Ākhaņḍala,
 The white Amalagīśvariņī from Vācaspati, and Lakṣmī from the Sustainer of the Earth—

These they win by means of the mantra.

- 1.26 Those who possess the mantra and meditate on the Blessed Lady Will gain various treasures, gold, silver, earrings, Garments, and other such wealth. Their minds will partake of whatever they wish for, without exception.
 1.27 Having taken the kingdom from the king, the fruit from the tree that
 - transcends the senses, And the waters from the nāgas, rivers, and oceans, Absorbed in the mantra, they drink and eat while purifying through the mantra.
 - For people without the mantra, no enjoyment can be won.
- 1.28 Wild elephants; the best horses of noble breed;
 The best snakes, hooded and venomous;
 Crocodiles; water buffalo; and rhinoceroses—
 These they summon by the power of their mantra.
- 1.29 If also they look with eyes free from wonder, The mantra-adepts will thereby see.If with the eye of compassion mantra-adepts regard the world, Which is stricken by all sorts of suffering,
- 1.30 They will become Tārā,⁵ benefiting the world like the wish-fulfilling jewel.
 The entire world will become of Tārā⁶ and know peace.
 Having overcome the demons, they bring down a rain of wealth;
 As a wish-fulfilling tree, they grant beings whatever they wish for. [F.31.b]
- 1.31 Having drawn to them all the riches of the lords of wealth without exception,They give it away for the benefit of all beings.

Likewise, for the benefit of the destitute in the world Tārā creates clothes, seats, homes, and parasols.

1.32 For those suffering on islands, due to the wreckage of their merchant vessels, Tārā creates boats, ships, and so on. The yogins who meditate on this Tārā Will first experience some suffering.

1.33 Yet once that is over, such peopleWill soon discover feasts.Next they will acquire garments,Just as they will meet with noble women.

- 1.34 Then they will enjoy the betel.That which they wish for will be obtained without asking.Even if one is celibate,One may engage with a woman of supreme, celestial birth.
- 1.35 Those who take pleasure in killing sentient beings
 Will not succeed in this discipline.
 Those who delight in the ten virtues,
 And are single-minded in their devotion to the Great Vehicle,
 Will, in accordance with Vajradharma's words,
 Hereby experience the supreme accomplishment.

This was the first chapter, the instructions for the practice of painting.

2.	CHAPTER 2
2.1	Through the method of worship in accordance with the Dharma,
	One will attain dharmatā
	And oneself will become the dharmadhātu.
	That shall now be correctly explained. ⁷
2.2	Now follows the practice method of the wish-fulfilling tree:
	One should visualize, arising from the syllable $v_{f}m_{f}^{8}$
	A wish-fulfilling tree.
	As a transformation of the utpala,
	It should be visualized to the left.
2.3	A rain of various riches
	Falls from the middle of the sky,
	And so fulfills wishes and desires.
	The one who meditates like this becomes the Lord of Wealth.
2.4	The sentient beings of the four continents
	One must summon through light rays of the mind
	And so generously provide them
	With the gifts that consist of the seven jewels:
2.5	The jewel of the foremost teacher,
	The jewel born from the sea,
	The jewel of a woman, the jewel of a horse,
	The jewel of a sword,
2.6	The jewel of an elephant—such jewels
	Should be offered mentally to the buddhas.
	The jewel of a woman, adorned with ornaments
	And displaying abundant attractions, [F.32.a]

- 2.7 Should always be offered to the buddhasBy those who wish for the fruit of buddhahood.Through this all buddhasAnd knowledge holders will be achieved.
- 2.8 Replete with his treasures,A foremost teacher, a lord of wealth,Should be offered to the buddhas
- 2.9 By those who wish for the fruit of buddhahood.When likewise the other jewelsAre respectfully surrenderedOne will turn into VajradharmaAnd so become the benefactor of all beings.

This was the practice method of the wish-fulfilling tree.

- 2.10 All the buddhas are mind itself.By mind itself one is liberated.Bondage is broken by the mind,Through mind one attains freedom.
- 2.11 Apart from in the mindThings and entities are not seen anywhere at all.Hence, there is no perfection to be seenApart from buddhahood and all the accomplishments.
- 2.12 The environments and sentient beings,The elements and their derivatives,Have been declared to be "mind only"By those who possess the undefiled special vision.
- 2.13 Therefore, one should make every effort To cleanse the mirror of the mind.Faults, which are by nature extrinsic,Will gradually be utterly exhausted.
- 2.14 From the first of the vowels Arises a stainless full moon. Meditating on mind itself as that moon, One places upon it the seed-syllable:
- 2.15 The fourth in the sibilant groupIs positioned atop the syllable of fire,Joined with the syllable ī,

And adorned with the two skies.

2.16 A multicolored light from that Cleanses beings of their impurities, And turns this billionfold world, and other such universes, into the field of space.

Having entered the Kurukullā mountain

- 2.17 It rouses Tārā, and as she is summoned,She is made to be present before oneself.The wise must then from the syllableSend forth a great cloud of offerings:
- 2.18 Flowers, incense, and lamps;
 Perfume, food, and the like;
 Gestures, garlands,
 Theatrical shows, songs, and other such offerings.
- 2.19 "The three jewels are my refuge; I confess all my wrongdoings; I rejoice [F.32.b] in the virtues of wandering beings; I set my mind on the enlightenment of a buddha"—
- 2.20 These words should be spoken three times,After which one requests departure.When the mind has been made to abide through love,It should again be placed there.
- 2.21 Having engendered a mind of compassion,One should as well bring forth a mind of joy.Afterward, one should regard everything with equanimityIn its condition of being "mind only."
- 2.22 Then, in order to discard the ordinary, The mind must once more be emptied. The five aggregates of the process of reexistence Shall be consumed by the fire of emptiness.

Om śūnyatājñānavajrasvabhāvātmako 'ham.⁹

2.23 For a while one should practice this emptiness yogaAnd so bring the mind refreshing rest.Recollecting the vows taken earlier,One should once more focus on simply the seed-syllable.

- 2.24 "An exclusive nirvāņa Would mean deceiving sentient beings. How shall I liberate them From the endless ocean of existence?"
- 2.25 Contemplating thus, the one who possesses loveWill abandon the emptiness devoid of mind.A mind that is of the nature of the field of phenomenaMust be brought forth through mind itself.
- 2.26 By the Buddha's blessing arises the seed-syllable, And from that, that which is called an utpala.On the utpala, there is a moon disk Arisen from the syllable a.
- 2.27 On that moon, again, is the seed-syllable, From which emanate rays of light. Thereby all realms of the world Are seen to be thoroughly purified.
- 2.28 Once they are purified and illumined,One should perceive that great numbers of buddhasMelt into light and enter the seed-syllable.From that arises Tārā.
- 2.29 As explained, the goddess is of the color of madder roseAnd adorned with all of the ornaments.First one should develop the samaya formAnd then summon the wisdom circle.
- 2.30 This occurs in an instant.The wisdom circle remains in front.With the application of the samaya sealThey should enter by the open pathway.
- 2.31 The palms of the hands are joinedAnd the two little fingers visualized.The middle fingers are joined at the tipsAnd the ring fingers are between them. [F.33.a]
- 2.32 The index fingers are joined to the middle onesAnd the thumbs are bent below.Having formed the samaya seal in this wayOne must summon the circle and cause it to enter.

2.33	With the following verses to the buddhas One should request empowerment:
2.34	"Just as Bodhivajra offers The great worship to the buddhas, So too, in order to protect me, Please, now grant it to me, O Khavajra."
2.35	With the so-called "empowerment of the Victor" Locanā and the other four arise.
2.36	"The consecration of a king with flowers, Great ones, bestow that upon me."
2.37	"The empowerment by the great vajra, Which is venerated throughout the three realms, And which originates from the abodes of three secrets, That shall be given by all the buddhas."
2.38	As the buddhas empower Tārā She becomes crowned with the Dharma.
2.39	With red light of different hues She illuminates the three worlds. One who has obtained the jewel of empowerment Will attain all accomplishments.
2.40	By means of the described ritual One must practice stably for half a year And offer bali at the three times. By means of this mantra,
2.41	And through the ritual of cane or cakes, One will obtain a sign during a dream. The sword, the accomplishment of the netherworld, Invisibility, the extraction of essences,
2.42	Anonymity, celestial realms, Foot unguent, and eye ointment— The signs will be seen in dreams And the accomplishments themselves will manifest.
2.43	If one becomes fond of these, Minor accomplishments will be attained through Tārā. Having become a universal monarch, one attains

The kingdom and the pleasures of the senses.

- 2.44 For the one endowed with meditation and recitationThese are even attained in dreams.At the final moon among the six,Recite delightedly for one night
- 2.45 And form the utpala mudrā.
 As one recites, it suddenly bursts into flames.
 By the power of this mudrā
 Brahma, Indra, Upendra, Rudra, and so forth,
- 2.46 Together with their spouses, Are summoned and arrive enthralled.
 From then on, one will be accomplished in every respect [F.33.b] And be free from the bonds of saṃsāra,
- 2.47 Just as a lotus will be unstainedBy water soiled with mud.When touched, quicksilver becomes many,Yet when coalesced, it once more becomes one;
- 2.48 Within the state of omniscienceThe same is the case with the accomplished one's mind.When touched by perfected quicksilver,Copper turns to gold;
- 2.49 Likewise, when touched by the perfected mantra,Practitioners of mantra will become the bodies of the Buddha.They attain the station of the lord of the godsAnd become lords of the triple universe.
- 2.50 When born in the family of the Buddha, They become turners of the wheel. They are born, go forth into homelessness, Practice the difficult conduct,
- 2.51 And as they also engage in the conduct of enlightenment, They recollect buddhahood itself. Likewise, they descend from the gods, manifest emanations, Turn the wheel of Dharma,
- 2.52 Attain the great nirvāņa, And depart for a cemetery. Having left their bodies in the triple world,

The victorious ones, by means of the enjoyment body,

2.53 Return again to the pure abodes,
And so the emanation body emerges.
By means of the procedures of books and paintings,
There is engagement with the dharma body as well.
Hence, the mantra, thereby established,
Has indeed been taught by the buddhas.

2.54 All the blessed ones, the thus-gone ones, then addressed the great bodhisattva Vajrapāņi, so as to examine his noble mind: "How, O Vajrapāņi, could the buddhas, the blessed ones, who possess vajra bodies, who possess dharmadhātu bodies, possibly die at some location on earth?"

Vajrapāņi, in turn, offered the following words to those buddhas and bodhisattvas: "The bodhisattvas have asked me this: 'How could buddhas, who possess vajra bodies, dharmadhātu bodies, bodies of nonduality, possibly die at some location on earth?' " And he continued, "Listen, O bodhisattvas, the so-called nirvāņa [F.34.a] means a passage to the realm of bliss."

"O Vajrapāņi," inquired the bodhisattvas, "do the buddhas, the blessed ones, go to the realm of bliss after they relinquish the dharma body, or do they go to the realm of bliss by means of the enjoyment body, having left behind their emanation body? How could they depart, having left behind the dharma body?"

Vajrapāņi replied, "A person with magical powers may employ magic for some specific purpose, and so also succeed in achieving that purpose. Likewise:

"Accomplished since the beginning, The buddhas engage in the act of accepting birth, To provide for sentient beings, When a universal monarch has gone beyond.

- 2.55 "When a buddha goes beyond, A universal monarch appears. In this world there is never a time When both of them are absent.
- 2.56 "The Buddha, the best among those who walk on two feet, Provided guidance to beings in need of guidance. After having remained for eighty years, He departed for the abode of the victorious ones.
- 2.57 "Having left behind their magical illusion of a buddha,

They remain in great bliss, which is the palace of the victorious ones; Within the perfect peace of great bliss They abide in a form that is in all ways delightful.

- 2.58 "An agent, eternal and singular— Thus the sages regard the mind.¹⁰ Yet it is taught that it is not of such an essence; Rather, it is held to be composed of moments.
- 2.59 "The victorious ones will relinquish their bodiesFor those deluded because of holding on to a self,And for those who always want things to be permanent,So that they may be introduced to impermanence.
- 2.60 "Those who are of the nature of all things, And whose minds know everything, Cannot definitively be said To be absent anywhere.
- 2.61 "Based on the relative truth, And for those in this billionfold universe and elsewhere who are in need of guidance, The buddhas teach the Dharma Throughout the extent of space.
- 2.62 "There is no real birth of a buddha, Nor is there any real death of a buddha. Where everything is of the same taste, This is the nature of arising and ceasing.
- 2.63 "The buddhas are of the same body within the dharmadhātu, [F.34.b]And they are free of the five obscurations.The body of the profound and the vast—It is as the essence of this reality that a buddha remains.
- 2.64 "Since neither is the case, They do, from the beginning, not exist. Since from the beginning they have not arisen They do not arise and they do not cease."
- 2.65 The bodhisattvas asked, "How is it, O Vajrapāņi, that the buddhas, the blessed ones, the teachers of the three worlds, neither arise nor cease?" "Now, O bodhisattvas, what do you think?" asked Vajrapāņi in return. "Does the one who is the Buddha exist, or not exist?"

"O Vajrapāņi, buddhas neither exist nor do they not exist," replied the bodhisattvas.

Vajrapāņi then said:

"Indeed, it is the unborn that is born; The born will never be born. When investigated in terms of the ultimate They are unborn since the beginning.

- 2.66 "Likewise, the dead do not die, Nor does the one who is not dead. The nonabiding does not abide, And the one who abides is not in need of abiding.
- 2.67 "If that which has not been born were subject to decay, Or if the unborn were subject to arising, Then a rabbit's horn would also Be subject to arising and cessation.
- 2.68 "If that which exists were to arise,That which has arisen would arise once more.Also, if that which does not exist were to arise,The barren woman's son would arise too.
- 2.69 "Therefore, everything is ignorance, Formations that possess the three characteristics. The worlds that possess the five aggregates Are known as mere appearance.
- 2.70 "The bodhisattvas should understand the nirvāṇa that pertains to the buddhas, the blessed ones, through this reasoning."

The bodhisattvas asked:

"When nothing is produced, What are mantras, what are tantras, And how does one visualize the maṇḍala? How, then, is accomplishment gained?"

2.71 Vajrapāņi replied:

"Originating in dependence— This is how things arise. Likewise, depending on mantras, mudrās, and so forth, The accomplishments are gained. [F.35.a] 2.72 "The accomplishments are relative, And so are the transcendences of the Buddha. Buddhahood, the state of Vajrasattva, Is perfectly accomplished in terms of the relative."

This was the second chapter.

CHAPTER 3

3.1	The progression of the ritual for reciting the mantra
	Shall now be explained.
	By merely understanding it,
	The practitioner will reach success.

- 3.2 Coral is used for enthrallment, Puṣkara removes poison, And with crystal insight will expand. These are to be used in three activities.
- 3.3 In a pit the shape of an asvattha tree leaf, which is the pure nature of the place of birth, one should light a fire with wood from the asoka tree. One must then, in the prescribed way, perform one hundred and eight offerings of red lotus flowers. The fire should be obtained from the home of an actor. The offerings are to be smeared with the three sweets and presented together with the root mantra.

Next comes the diagram. One should draw a triangular mandala on cotton smeared with the mark of the moon. Within it, one writes entreating words that include the names of the practitioner and the one to be won: "Let me succeed in attracting such and such a person!" As one enriches this with the root mantra, one should write with a paint of liquid lac, blood from one's left ring finger, camphor, kunkuma, and musk.

If one wishes to increase insight one should, in the same pit as before, burn arka and karavīra with the sacrificial fire used for brahmin oblations. One should offer atarūṣaka leaves¹¹ or sweet flag ten thousand times.

For removing poison, one should light a fire in the same basin with wood of the sandal tree, and in that offer the flowers of the piṇḍatagara. Thus one will become a curer of all poison. One will heal the different pains and bring peace.

This is the rite of the gāruḍa knowledge tantra.

On the paths of the triple universe One will attract and engage with All those who are known as noblewomen By means of oblation and the diagram.

3.4 Loving-kindness through looking with impassioned love— [F.35.b]
It is through such a mind that one performs enthrallment.
Having enthralled all beings,
One establishes them in the enlightenment of the Buddha.

This is the rite of enthrallment.

- 3.5 The so-called "knower of everything" Cannot be attained without insight. The one who wishes to attain it Should therefore develop incisive insight.
- 3.6 Through the practice of recitation and oblations
 One will encounter all phenomena.
 The mind that is pure, bright, and stainless—
 That indeed is the transcendent insight.
- 3.7 The yogin will be liberated.
 The leaves of gṛhābhidhāna, Ṣaṭhī, licorice, Brahmāņī, māgadhī, and honey—
 These are to be eaten.

This is the ritual for increasing insight.

3.8 Next¹² there is honey with ghee, Cakrārikita, and the good root—
By applying this to the place struck by the poisonous fangs,
Or by drinking it, one will neutralize the poison.

This is the medicine that overcomes poison.

3.9 Jārī and caņḍālikā,
Snehamallī and ghee,
As well as dead intestinal worms—
When eaten, these effect enthrallment.

This is the medicine for performing enthrallment.

- 3.10 The removal of poison brings peace in the world;From the development of insight comes buddhahood.Turning the wheel of Dharma will be accomplishedIn an instant by the one who practices enthrallment.
- 3.11 For accomplishing the benefit of oneself and othersThere is no other means within the Great Vehicle.The practice of a spell just onceWill immediately be convincing.
- 3.12 Thinking of the syllable hrīḥ at the vessel of frenzy
 Will cause women to drip.
 Thinking of it upon the tongue or in the center of the heart,
 Will engender insights.
- 3.13 When meditated upon in relation to the bite of the fangs This beautiful syllable of Dharma Will destroy poison. This heart of Tārā conquers the three worlds—
- 3.14 That should be understood by those who love.

As the negativities of speech completely disappear, one will be able to remove poison; when those of the mind disappear, insight will increase; and when the flaws of the body are exhausted, one will bring about enthrallment.

- 3.15 Hence, since this world is attached to nonvirtue, it does not gain accomplishment. Therefore, O sons of the victorious ones, you must act to benefit, and give up evil. By means of the specific gestures, the faults associated with the body certainly disappear [F.36.a] and, through the mantra, so do the faults associated with the composites of the tongue.
- 3.16 The faults associated with the mind fade away in those whose minds delight in meditation. With the joy of stainless faith, the cognitions of the body become unmoving—that is the time of the Buddha's blessing. The one who sees with an eye free from evil and who possesses compassion will become king of the three worlds. With his power of merit superior because of generosity, he becomes the foremost on the surface of the earth, a benefactor endowed with diligence.
- 3.17 Having given up laziness, and by means of wisdom, he will not experience even a bit of the suffering of hell. Therefore, one relies on the wealth of the compassion of the sons of the victorious ones, and on their diligent conduct. Perceiving the buddhas in the center of the sky, one regards the buddhas by the power of concentration. Even in sleep one should always perceive oneself to be surrounded by the buddhas.

3.18 At the time of death the wise proceed to the summit of Mount Meru;
 Buddhas riding in various vehicles—
 These are seen by the ones who are compassionate by nature.
 Doing evil produces the perception of the cities of hell.

This is the tantra for purification.

- 3.19 Where there is desire there is poison; Insight also is present there.¹³ Therefore, how can Pāņḍarā Be regarded as the queen of speech?¹⁴
- 3.20 She is indeed the curer of poison
 Abiding on the level of Hayagrīva.¹⁵
 Manifesting as the speech of the vajra of passion,
 She enthralls the three worlds.

This is the practice of the tantra of the desire family.

3.21 Next follows another method:

Having created a triangular maṇḍala And, in addition, another triangle, The wise must, starting from Indra's quarter, Write the syllable oṃ and so forth.

3.22 The six seed-syllables are in the six corners,
And the seed-syllable of Dharma is in the center.
Placed within a phuḥ syllable,
It should be drawn on the doorstep.

This is the tantra for driving away snakes.

3.23 Now, to bring women fortune, another method shall be explained:

One should draw a lotus flower with seven petals and apply the seven syllables to it. In its center one should, according to the enthrallment procedure, write the name of the person to be enthralled, [F.36.b] supported by a pair of *hrī*h syllables. One should draw this on birch bark, or on cotton with flowers, and make it into a charm that is to be worn on the upper arm.

The master will become the slave of a woman And kings will turn into servants. By means of the extremely pure and clean This mantra can be removed. This is the ritual for enthrallment.

3.24 Next follows the diagram for protection:

One should draw a four-petal lotus, And then, in its center, a moon. In the east one should draw an arrow, And in the south, a bow.

3.25 In the west is a hand showing the mudrā of fearlessness,
And in the north, one draws a lotus.
In the central moon is the one to be protected
Surrounded by the seven seed syllables.

- 3.26 As for the outer perimeter,It is adorned with a garland of utpalas.Having drawn this on birch bark,One should wear it on one's upper arm.
- 3.27 Moreover, children, the old, and the young will be self-protected by the diagram.

If one desires the attainment of a lord, one should draw a citron and, in its center, a bow. Inside the bow, one should draw a jewel-shaped lotus bud. In the center of the lotus bud is the syllable $jr\bar{u}m$, surrounded by the seven syllables. One should draw this on a golden tablet and keep it in the upper part of the house. One should surround it with an outer garland of lotuses, and, on the eighth or twelfth day of the month, using a jar containing five types of jewels, one should take it down. Having washed and worshiped it, one should recite the mantra one hundred and eight times. Within a year, one will become the equal of Kubera. Such a charm should be worn correctly.

Next follows another method: on a Tuesday, if one finds a cowrie shell lying with its face up, one should place it in the palm of the hand and recite the mantra one hundred thousand times. If one plays dice, one will win.

Taking up the cowrie one should recite the Kurukullā mantra one hundred and eight times. On the twelfth or eighth day of the month, one should perform ablutions and make offerings. Then one should wrap the shell in silk and wear it on one's arm. [F.37.a] Whoever does so will become a great master of riches. If one puts this shell in a box and hides it in the ground one will every day obtain a kārṣa's worth of wealth.

This is the tantra on obtaining wealth, a kingdom, royalty, and the fruit.

This completes the third chapter.

CHAPTER 4

4.1	The mere seeing of the colored powder
	Quickly brings about the attainment of buddhahood,
	As one progresses through the stages of perception of the mandala.
	That shall now be explained correctly.

4.2 Four-sided and with four doors, It is adorned with four arches. In its center one should place the goddess, In a bhaga form of good color.

4.3 In the east an arrow should be drawn;And in the south, a bow;In the west, a hand of fearlessness,And in the north, an utpala.

4.4 All are in the border areas: The vajra, the wheel, and so forth. Wearing a red upper garment, And with his face covered by a red silken cloth, The disciple should enter there.

4.5 At this point the sattvavajrī mudrā should be displayed, a flower should be offered to the circle, and the words "praticcha vajra hoḥ" be spoken. Then, as the cover is removed, the maṇḍala is to be revealed. In the best case, the flower has fallen in the center. If it has fallen on the arrow, the student will be capable of performing the acts of enthrallment. If it has fallen on the giver of fearlessness, the student should study the removal of poison. If it has fallen on the utpala, it is the development of insight that should be studied. And if it has fallen on the bow, omniscient wakefulness is to be pursued.

At the time of the entry, the following should be declared: "You must not speak of this supreme secret of all the thus-gone ones in front of anyone who has not entered this maṇḍala. Your samaya vow would definitely degenerate. Having failed to avoid the distressful, you would certainly die and fall into hell."

After that the samayas are to be given with the words, "The Three Jewels must never be abandoned...," and so forth, just as it is extensively taught in the tantra. The oath is to be administered with the following words:

"If any among the great samaya vows of the King of Dharma That you have received from me [F.37.b] should degenerate, The buddhas and bodhisattvas Who engage in the supreme conduct of secret mantra

- 4.6 "Will extract and consume The great blood and the great heart. I am the guardian of the Dharma; Do not displease me.
- 4.7 "You should always wear red clothes, A red mala, Vermillion powder, Apply red perfume,
- 4.8 "And adorn yourself with red jewels and the like.
 With the mind of passion you must meditate,
 Just as you must recite the mantra with a passionate mind.
 The palaces are to be painted
 With red ocher or sindhura,
- 4.9 "Vermillion powder, Saffron, red sandal, Or coral powder—all of these are appropriate.
- 4.10 "Karketa dust is used for the drawing. Whether for oblations, the circle, Or inauguration, Red substances are always to be applied.
- 4.11 "These are indicative of the saffron of the Buddha. You must not kill living beings, Not speak what is not true, Not take what has not been given,

- 4.12 "And not associate with another's wife. Three acts of the body, Four of speech, And three of the mind—
- 4.13 "Give up these unvirtuous acts.
 Dharma, material things,
 Love, and fearlessness—
 You must always practice this fourfold generosity.
- 4.14 "If you possess nothing, be generous through acts of meditation. Also, you must always display the four means of magnetizing, Along with the body of the perfections, The powers, and the masteries.
- 4.15 "You must not look down on females, Particularly not anyone by the name of Tārā. Even a householder practitioner of secret mantra May not take such a woman.
- 4.16 "In a town, at a gate, in a marketplace— Wherever Tārā resides— In a high street, at a four-road junction, At the side of a wall,
- 4.17 "And in particular at a three-road junction— You should always pay homage at such places, Offer praise, and present great offerings. Having made such places your dwelling
- 4.18 "You should practice the mantra and so forth.
 Seeing a woman whose name is Tārā,
 Of white and red complexion and beautiful eyes, [F.38.a]
 The yogin should respectfully
- 4.19 "Pay homage to her in his mind. Upon bandhūka flowers, The karavīra-holder, As well as other red flowers
- 4.20 The practitioner should never step."As the vows are given in this wayThere is the clean and pure water of divine substance.The disciple should be purified with the water in the four vases

And the water of mantra.

- 4.21 In the right order, the master should thenWash him with the gestures of the arrow, the bow, and so forth.First by means of the vase with the arrow,
- 4.22 And secondly, the one with the bow.The third is the one with the hand of fearlessness,And the fourth, the one with the utpala."Just as the Lion of the Śākyas received
- 4.23 "From the buddhas and their offspring, the vajra holders, The empowerment for the great kingdom, So also do I empower you. The very essence of all the buddhas,
- 4.24 "That, indeed, you have found in this maṇḍala.
 Beholding these colored powders
 The buddhas are thoroughly delighted.
 Here there is no death and disease,
- 4.25 "No grief and no poverty. Through this pure Great Vehicle You will attain complete enlightenment." Empowered through the arrow and the other three
- 4.26 The disciple has been made a vessel for the Dharma, And is, in accordance with the ritual, To be granted the secrets.
- 4.27 First one should train in the method of warding off the nāgas.

namo ratnatrayāya. namaḥ sarvabuddhabodhisattvebhyaḥ. namo 'ṣṭasarpapudgalāya. namaḥ samastebhyo buddhakoṭibhyaḥ.. tadyathā. om hrīḥ hrīḥ hrīḥ sarvanāgānām anantakulānām vāsukikulānām takṣakakulānām śaṅkhapālakulānām karkoṭakulānām padmakulānām mahāpadmakulānām kulikakulānām varāhakulānām puṇḍarīkakulānām ghanakulānām meghakulānām jaladakulānām jaladharakulānām jīmūtakulānām samvartakulānām vasantakulānām airāvatakulānām kumudakulānām kahlārakulānām saugandhikakulānām hana hana śareṇa bandha bandha cāpena tāḍaya tāḍaya utpalena bhītānām abhayam dehi pralayakāla iva jaladhāram avatāraya varṣam [F.38.b] tān nāgān vaśīkuru kuru phuḥ kulāpaya kulāpaya phuḥ phuḥ, om kurukulle hrīḥ hūm phaṭ svāhā phaṭ¹⁶ With this mantra, one should draw the maṇḍala with gaur dung. As prescribed, one should draw an eight-petaled lotus with sandalwood paste and place on its petals, starting from the eastern one, Ananta and the others—the eight nāgas—using candied sugar and bdellium. When the moon is in the Rohiṇī lunar house, one should perform a hundred and eight recitations, offer incense to the nāgas, and make offerings. If it does not begin to rain, they should be washed with wine and tormented with the fire of khadira wood. Doing this will bring rain. However, if the nāgas do not send rain, leprosy will break out.

4.28

This is to be carried out by a knowledge holder who is a performer of rites. Afterward, they should be gathered and released in a great river.

"May the gods send rain And may the crops be excellent. May the people prosper And the king be in accord with the Dharma."

Thus one should perform the dedication.

One who wishes to stop excessive rainfall should obtain a snake from a snake charmer, anoint it with sandalwood paste, and feed it milk. One should pronounce this mantra over it seven times, put it in a red, unbaked jar, and seal it with the great seal. Breaking the vase will make the rain stop immediately.

Later, one should offer a feast for the gathering, Or make offerings to the sangha of listeners, And give food and drink to boys and girls. Doing this will delight the nāgas.

- 4.29 If, when it rains,One does not do thisThe nāgas will be displeasedAnd so one will contract leprosy.
- 4.30 The king, along with his sons and queens, should bathe on the fifth day of the waning moon. They should obtain the root of pratyangirā, blend it with milk or ghee, and having poured it into a silver dish, they should drink it. If the dish is offered to an ordained monk there will not be any danger from snakes for one year. Moreover, if, because of its unvirtuous actions, [F.39.a] a snake does bite, the snake itself will die. Success comes with seven repetitions of the mantra.

Also, if one wishes to cure leprosy, one should, by means of this very mantra, neutralize a poison and then ingest it. This will cure leprosy.

If one recites the root mantra over water, and then uses that water to wash the wound from a snake bite, that will remove the poison.

Moreover, if one wishes to see nāgas, one should pronounce the mantra upon a red utpala petal one hundred thousand times for each of its syllables. The petal should then be tossed into a pond, or the like, that is inhabited by nāgas and blessed. This will make the females of the nāgas tremble. They will request orders from the practitioner: "What shall we do, O lord?" The practitioner of mantra should then request what he wishes.

This was the fourth chapter.

CHAPTER 5

5.1 Once when young Rāhulabhadra had gone to Rājagṛha to receive alms, he went to the Veṇuvana grove, and there descended into a long pond to wash his alms bowl. While there, he, the son of Yaśodharā, was mistaken for a white ascetic and so was pulled into the pond. At that time the young Rāhulabhadra recited this spell. No sooner had he recited the mantra than—just like someone emerging from his house—he arrived in the presence of the Blessed One.

Having approached the Lord, he said, "Father, I have seen the power of the secret mantra which you have granted."

The Blessed One asked, "Where have you seen that?"

"In the presence of the nāgas. Therefore, I request that the Blessed One teach this mantra, so that other beings too may be protected by it."

So then, at that very time and on that occasion, the Lord dispatched Vajrapāṇi, and benevolently granted this mantra and this manual of instruction to the listeners and the bodhisattvas, to the monks and nuns, and to the male [F.39.b] and female lay practitioners. Therefore, children of noble family, one who creates a sandalwood maṇḍala and reads this mantra and this manual of instructions will not be harmed by poison, will not die from poison, and will have no fear of boils, eczema, leprosy, disease, nāgas, snakes, tigers and other beasts of prey, weapons, enemies, poverty, or untimely death. None of these will occur.

In order to protect the Teachings, the Lord granted Mahākāla the demoness Hārītī, whom he had nourished from his own alms bowl. She, however, was lacking in fortune because of her former bad deeds. She was not agreeable to Mahākāla, and so he did not stay with her, did not love her, and did not protect the Teachings either. She therefore became depressed, and in order to enthrall Mahākāla this Kurukullā compendium was taught. From then on, her fortune became vast and excellent. For that reason, children of noble family, if you wish to enthrall sentient beings you should familiarize yourselves with this mantra and this manual of instructions.

5.3

It also came to pass that Sunanda's son was born handsome and good looking, athletic and in possession of auspicious marks, and yet nevertheless dull-witted.

Sunanda therefore said to the Blessed One, "O Lord, my son was born handsome and good looking, athletic and in possession of auspicious marks, and yet nevertheless dull-witted. How, O Lord, may he develop insight? Lord, if this child becomes literate he shall become a protector of your doctrine."

Upon hearing this, the Blessed One, with words preceded by mindfulness, [F.40.a] spoke this manual of practice and gave this mantra. As soon as he had done so, Sunanda's son, Rohinīkumāra by name, acquired insight. By the twelfth year he was free from being intimidated by any of the treatises, as he was thoroughly acquainted with all of the crafts and arts. Therefore, children of noble family, in order to accumulate great insight, you should study this very mantra and its manual of practice.

5.4 Then the Blessed One spoke of the magical power of sky travel:

"Mercury free from the mountain defect¹⁷ One should properly obtain, Place in a vajra hollow, And grind with the world-protector.

- 5.5 "Again, one should grind with dharmarasa,¹⁸
 With yavatiktikā,
 And the juice of *ākhukarņī*¹⁹
 For a period of three days.
- 5.6 "The sap of vandhyā and kākolī,
 The sap of bhāskara and vajra,
 The juice of aviddhaśravaņa,
 And breast milk—with these it should be blended.
- 5.7 "Having washed this mercury Seven times with acidulated rice water, One should grind it, put it in an iron pot, And cook it in a lump of vṛddhadāraka dough.
- 5.8 "A lump of kanaka flowersOne should certainly spin on the top and the bottom.

When the root mantra has been recited one hundred thousand times, The mercury will revolve clockwise.

- 5.9 "Upon that which is infused with the sun of sulfur One should recite the mantra, And in an iron pot placed over fire Pour a little through the method of pulverization.
- 5.10 "When the sulphur has melted slightly, Sky-leaf is infused and smelted; Thereafter, subsequently gold And mākṣika is infused.
- 5.11 "Then, silver and copper should be infused, And, similarly, iron five times. Everything else should be infused six times. It will then become equal to the light of the sun.
- 5.12 "With one guñja of this, An experienced person will transform a great quantity. If a pala can be transformed with māṣā, It should be known that the mercury has been perfected.
- 5.13 "Kept together with meṣaśṛṅgī,
 The vajra should be killed with the sap of snuhī.
 The bodily products of a female musk shrew
 Are to be infused [F.40.b] into the perfected mercury.
- 5.14 "When this has mingled with the mercury, Emeralds and so forth are also to be infused. The Kurukullā yogin Should dissolve a pearl on account of the eye;
- 5.15 "Taking always just a small amount He will take pleasure with a hundred women. With just seven nights of practice The adept will be flying through the sky.

"This is the tantra on the use of mercury for journeying in the sky.

5.16 "Taking a ball of lead,
One places it in a vessel with bakula seeds.
Having placed it in a vessel with the blood-dripping kañcu,
One places it in a red earthen vessel.

- 5.17 "Together with mercury The lead will undoubtedly die. It is mixed with one pala-measure And afterward with sixty palas.
- 5.18 "As one practices, correspondingly, A lump of silver will be produced. As Tārā grants the accomplishment of silver One is able to benefit sentient beings. With the welfare of sentient beings comes the accumulation of merit, And from that accumulation, complete enlightenment.

"This is the tantra on silver practices.

- 5.19 "Nīlakroņņa flower, as has been explained, Is known as the blue citraka.
 For a month, the yogin should drink this with milk; His life will extend for one thousand years.
- 5.20 "Having obtained the black through the speech of the mantra, The yogin should place it in a bamboo vessel. If he practices on the eighth day of the lunar month, He will live for as long as the sun, moon, and stars.
- 5.21 "Having obtained honey and turmeric,²⁰ One should mix it with milk, and drink it. One's lifespan will without doubt Be equal to that of the priests of Brahmā.
- 5.22 "Likewise, having obtained the banana-like Fruit of the banyan tree, Wherever that may be, If on a day of fasting One mixes this with milk and drinks it, One will be free from white hair and wrinkles.

"This is the tantra on essence extraction.

- 5.23 "While observing the practices, the one who desires a son Should drink milk with the flowers of the baka tree. If his spouse drinks this while fasting, They will receive a fortunate son.
- 5.24 "With this mantra, the vacā fruit should be mashed And mixed with milk.

When a fasting lady drinks this, [F.41.a] She will gain a son with the characteristics of a king.

- 5.25 "She who, having washed with milk, drinks the root of lakṣaṇākṣa Will obtain a fine son.
 Resembling Siddhārtha, with perfect physique, He will be undaunted by weapons and treatises.²¹
- 5.26 "Having uprooted the jalaśītalā plant,
 Or having obtained its root,
 One consecrates it seven times with the mantra and binds it to the hair.
 For one year this will prevent infectious disease.
- 5.27 "When, having obtained the root of kanaka,
 The yogin places it in the hair of someone
 Who suffers from the quartan fever,
 That person will be relieved from his plagues.
- 5.28 "Brick, smoke, wine, acidulated rice water, Along with the essence of the double-ra-king, Should be placed on a copper plate and blended with the milk of a woman. When applied to the eye it will cure diseases of the eye.
- 5.29 "Having pulled out the root of a white uccata plant, One consecrates it with fifty recitations of the mantra. Drinking it with milk, as much as one likes, Will render the fine mark of a powerful man fit.
- 5.30 "That which is well known as *nagasala*Generates, when mixed with milk,
 The male organ's power to produce plentiful offspring
 Subsequent to fifty recitations of the mantra.
- 5.31 "Orpiment of bovine origin, tongue of a toothless man,
 And the roots of nṛparāja—when the moon is in the Śubha asterism,
 A tilaka should be drawn on the forehead with it.
 Upon sight, the tilaka will enthrall the triple world.
- 5.32 "Having obtained a dead body's eyes, heart, and tongue, Forehead, and likewise nose,
 When the moon is in the eighth lunar mansion, Frying these in sesame oil will make one the enthraller of people.
- 5.33 "The eye unguent of the king of snakes,

The remedy of bad eyes, the blood known as "the flower"— If such medicine is applied to one's eyes It will seduce the king's queen.

- 5.34 "If, having recited the mantra fifty times, one places one's foot on the ground In pursuit of treasure within it, And the foot thus put down then vibrates, It should be understood that a treasure is present there.
- 5.35 "If the upper part of the foot twitches, it is nearby; [F.41.b]If it is the sole that twitches, it is far away.Relying first on hearsay,The knowledge holder should look downward every day.
- 5.36 "Whoever applies the excrement of the musk shrew Together with bdellium will, merely by doing so, Stay clear of mad elephants And emerge delightfully.
- 5.37 "If the milk of an entirely black bitch, Having been churned, yielding fresh butter, Is applied to shoes made of camel hide, Then wearing those will make one walk on water.
- 5.38 "When the thorns of yellow samkuca are gathered And hidden in the wilderness home, If the wine is broken, and then it is taken out, That one will become truly excellent.
- 5.39 "If the fire that burns a potter's wares Is fed with a log struck by lightning It will not burn, Yet if sprinkled with alcohol it blazes again.
- 5.40 "Reciting the mantra, taught before, upon the stock, And so teaching the consecration through mantra to merchants, The yogin accomplishes the sales And the merchants win great profit.
- 5.41 "If in a vessel for wine Monkey feces have entered, The wine and the vessel are ruined. Washing with bakula will render it usable.
- 5.42 "If washed with bakula water,

The baby will be cared for by the nanny. So too, through bhūtakeśa incense, The saffron-robed will be healed.

- 5.43 "If a child vomits breast-milk
 The ashes of burnt peacock feathers
 Should be bound to its neck;
 Through this supreme method it will be healed again.
- 5.44 "When the ritual of *yadakabaka*Is inscribed on a piece of lead
 And kept inside the mouth
 One will escape weapons, bondage, and enmity.
- 5.45 "Possessing the letters kṣa, ma, ra, and *ya,*All the letters are adorned with e.
 At the end of the authentic *kabaka,*The four eggs and the three measures are each given two.
- 5.46 "Daņdotpala, śarapuńkha, Nicula, and girikarņikā—
 Having washed it seven times with the juice of these, The wise should write on a tablet of lead.
- 5.47 "Yokes, shackles, prisons, The rain of weapons on the battlefield, And also anger—these are definitively crushed [F.42.a] Through the perfection of this great tantra.
- 5.48 "The one who writes this king of mantras, Makes a spell of it, and wears it on the upper arm Will become the equal of lord Kubera, And attain treasures that cannot be taken away by others.
- 5.49 "Om kurukulle svāhā—
 When this is attached to the alms bowl During a time of famine, The mendicant will receive donations.
- 5.50 "When the outer skin of an utpala stalkIs washed with milk and drunk by a womanShe will, by her own actions,Certainly maintain her pregnant womb.

- 5.51 "The five products of the māgadha,
 When a woman grinds them and drinks them with milk,
 The great power of this mantra
 Will bring her ease in childbirth.
- 5.52 "Having ground a nimbavāruņa leaf And mixed it with the juice of vajra, If a woman rubs this on her vagina at the time of birth She will give birth with ease.
- 5.53 "Elephant-māgadhikā with sweet flag, Horse-smell, and fresh buffalo butter— The method involving vālā Promotes the vitality of the breasts.
- 5.54 "A person who enjoys every type of food And who drinks water through his nose Prevents premature graying of the hair By the application of the mantra.
- 5.55 "The root of avasanikā, Kākamācī, and kanaka fruits
 Ground with the sap of the camphor tree—
 Applying this to the best part of the body will make tight women drip.²²
- 5.56 "If at the time of intercourse a woman does not drip She will not respect her husband, but want to leave. So there is a wish for the gift of binding. For the sake of dripping this ointment is applied.
- 5.57 "If at the time of sexual union A lamp with lard is lit, A man's desire comes quickly And he will remain in the vagina for long.
- 5.58 "When a house is set ablaze by lightning,If a man sprinkles wine by means of the mantraThe fire will die out.This method was taught by the Protector of the World."
- 5.59 Thus spoke the protector of sentient beings confined within samsāra, The Protector of the World.
 Upon Mount Potala, the king of mountains, The Blessed One [F.42.b] was pained by the pain of others.

- 5.60 "There is nothing at all that is not buddhahood.For the sake of accomplishing the benefit of beings There is nothing that has not been done before. That which has degenerated, I intend to restore."
- 5.61 When the Blessed One, noble Avalokiteśvara, had spoken these words, the entire retinue, and the whole world with its gods, humans, demigods, and gandharvas, rejoiced and praised the words of the Blessed One.
- 5.62 This completes "The Practice Manual of Noble Tārā Kurukullā."

- n.1 Āryatārākurukullākalpa is the title in the Sanskrit manuscripts. D reads Āryatārekurukullekalpa.
- n.2 Wieslaw Mical, whose annotated English translation from the Sanskrit is forthcoming.
- n.3 Based on Sanskrit manuscripts and N and H. D reads sna rtser.
- n.4 Based on Sanskrit manuscripts. Dhere reads 'dod pa'i lha las dga' ba'i bu la sogs pa ri 'khrod ma.
- n.5 Based on Sanskrit manuscripts and N and H. Dhere reads sgron ma rather than sgrol ma.
- n.6 Based on N and H. Dhere reads sgron ma rather than sgrol ma.
- n.7 The translation of these last two lines departs from the Sanskrit text, which reads athātaḥ saṃpravakṣyāmi yena tuṣyanti dharmatāḥ. dharmapūjāprayogeṇa dharmadhātuḥ svayaṃ bhavet. The word dharmadhātu is used here in its meaning of a "buddha" (multiple sources attest to this usage), and so is the word dharmatāḥ (in the plural, indicating that "the buddhas" is meant). The stanza could therefore be translated: "I will presently explain / The method of Dharma worship / Whereby the buddhas are pleased / And oneself becomes a buddha." [W.M.]
- n.8 Based on Sanskrit manuscripts. The Tibetan versions read brag rather than vrm.
- n.9 Based on Sanskrit manuscripts. D reads Om śūnyatājñānavajra-svabhāvātmakonyaham.

n.

- n.10 Based on Sanskrit manuscripts. D reads byed pa rtag pa gcig pus bzhugs/yin snyam drang song rnam sems te.
- n.11 Based on Sanskrit manuscripts.
- n.12 Based on N. D reads dug rjes rather than de rjes.
- n.13 Based on Sanskrit manuscripts. D reads de rnams rnam dag rgyud yin te// blo yang der ni gnas par 'gyur.
- n.14 Based on Sanskrit manuscripts. D reads dgos dkar dag gi btsun mor 'dod.
- n.15 Based on K and Y. D reads rta mgrin gyis ni go phang gnas.
- n.16 In the Tibetan text this passage at times appears in a hardly intelligible, transliterated Sanskrit. Here the text has been reconstructed based on the Sanskrit manuscripts.
- n.17 Amended based on Sanskrit manuscripts. Tibetan versions read ro yi skyon.
- n.18 Amended based on Sanskrit manuscripts. Tibetan versions read chos kyi sku.
- n.19 Amended based on Sanskrit manuscripts. Tibetan versions read by i na'i lo ma.
- n.20 Based on Sanskrit manuscripts. D reads yung ba bung dang 'dra snyed nas.
- n.21 Based on Sanskrit manuscripts. D reads mtshon gyis mtshon rnam kyis ni 'jigs med ni.
- n.22 Based on Sanskrit manuscripts. D reads lus mchog bkrus bsrubs mdzub mo 'zib.
- n.23 om namo bhagavatyai āryakurukullāyai] C; om namastārāyai Es, G
- n.24 naște gate] C, G; nașțam gate Es
- n.25 triduķkhaduķkhena] C; tridustadustena Es
- n.26 grāhyam] C, G; grāhyo Es
- n.27 śrīpotale] C; śrīpotalake (hypermetrical) Es
- n.28 Sandhi has been avoided to obtain a long syllable, as required by the meter.
- n.29 This compound is hypermetrical; shortening it to maitreyamukhyaiś would correct the meter and preserve the meaning.
- n.30 bahulīkṛtaḥ] C; bahulīkṛta° G; bahulīkṛtaṃ Es

- n.31 ca mārāś ca salokapālāḥ] G; kṣamā rākṣasalokapālāḥ C; kumārāś ca sapakṣa(kṣi)likāḥ Es

- n.48 vakrā°] C, G; cakrā° Es
- n.49 valayanti] C, G; varayanti Es
- n.50 Here the Sarnath editor supplied the phrase *vajrasya sparśena daśāmimām gatā*h.
- n.51 We have 12 syllables in this pāda, but since the first two syllables of kurukulla-mantram have the metrical value of one long syllable and count as one, the meter preserves the cadence of the eleven-syllable tristubh.
- n.52 kurukullamantram] C, G; kurukullamantre Es

- n.245 Cf. SM.172, where the same gāthā is followed by iti paṭhantībhir buddhājñayā locanādibhir abhiṣekaṃ dīyamānaṃ dhyāyāt ([one] should visualize the abhiṣeka being given, by Buddha's order, by Locanā and others, reciting thus). In the Pradīpoddyotana these words are recited during the ritual of abhiṣeka by the officiating master, without any mention of the five goddesses. The sādhana described here however, which the sādhaka performs on his own, requires him to visualise the goddesses.
- n.246 traidhātuka°] C, SM; traidhātukam G, Es

- n.473 The order of words and clauses in this paragraph differs significantly between C, G and Es. We adopted here mainly the C version. Instead of giving variant readings, which would be too confusing, we adduce this paragraph from G and Es in its entirety. G runs as follows: mangalavāre madhyāhnavelāyām cittakapardakam prāpya kurukullāmantreņāṣṭaśatajāpenālabhya pūjām krtvā dvādaśāṣṭamīsu śnāpayitvā karatale tasthāpya [sic] koṭīm japet. dyūteṣu parājayo bhavati. bāhau netrakarpaṭena prāvṛtya dhārayet. anena dhaneśvaro bhavati. athavā tam kapardakam bhānde prakṣipya dharaṇyām gopayet. pratidinam kārṣāpaṇam labhate.. Es runs as follows: madhyāhnavelāyām maṅgalavāreņa cittakapardakam prāpya karatale sthāpya koṭim japet. dyūte jayo bhavati. tam kapardakam kurukullāmantreņāṣṭaśatam japenārabhya pūjām krtvā dvādaśāṣṭamīṣu snāpayitvā anyakarpaṭena prāvṛtya bāhau dhārayet. anena mahādhaneśvaro bhavati. atha tam kapardakam bhānde prakṣipya dharaṇyām gopayet. pratidinam kārṣāpaṇam labhyate..

- n.499 Even though we have in this verse mantriņā (the third person) instead of tvayā (the second), this is still a direct speech. The master alternates between the second and the 'impersonal' third persons (passive construction or optative). The direct speech definitely ends in verse 23, where the master (ācārya) becomes the grammatical agent (cf. verses 23–24).

- n.540 saddharma°] Es, G (on the authority of T); saddharmya° C
- n.541 guhyajñānāni] C, G; guhyadānāni Es
- n.542 As regards sentence structure, the śloka division in C (where the verse ends with vidhikramaiḥ) is probably more correct.
- n.543 Starting here and ending with paragraph 38, this passage is absent in C, G, and T. It is, however, very likely that it was part of the original version, since the word vidhikramaiḥ, which precedes it and occurs again at its end, suggests a homoioteleuton omission on the part of the scribe.

Amitābha

'od dpag med

र्वेन-नयमाओना

amitābha

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

The buddha of the western buddhafield of Sukhāvatī, where fortunate beings are reborn to make further progress toward spiritual maturity. Amitābha made his great vows to create such a realm when he was a bodhisattva called Dharmākara. In the Pure Land Buddhist tradition, popular in East Asia, aspiring to be reborn in his buddha realm is the main emphasis; in other Mahāyāna traditions, too, it is a widespread practice. For a detailed description of the realm, see The Display of the Pure Land of Sukhāvatī, Toh 115. In some tantras that make reference to the five families he is the tathāgata associated with the the lotus family.

Amitābha, "Infinite Light," is also known in many Indian Buddhist works as Amitāyus, "Infinite Life." In both East Asian and Tibetan Buddhist traditions he is often conflated with another buddha named "Infinite Life," Aparimitāyus, or "Infinite Life and Wisdom," Aparimitāyurjñāna, the shorter version of whose name has also been back-translated from Tibetan into Sanskrit as Amitāyus but who presides over a realm in the zenith. For details on the relation between these buddhas and their names, see The Aparimitāyurjñāna Sūtm (1) Toh 674, i.9.

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

One of the "eight close sons of the Buddha," he is also known as the bodhisattva who embodies compassion. In certain tantras, he is also the lord of the three families, where he embodies the compassion of the buddhas. In Tibet, he attained great significance as a special protector of Tibet, and in China, in female form, as Guanyin, the most important bodhisattva in all of East Asia.

bhagavat

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

In Buddhist literature, an epithet applied to buddhas, most often to Śākyamuni. The Sanskrit term generally means "possessing fortune," but in specifically Buddhist contexts it implies that a buddha is in possession of six auspicious qualities (bhaga) associated with complete awakening. The Tibetan term—where bcom is said to refer to "subduing" the four māras, ldan to "possessing" the great qualities of buddhahood, and 'das to "going beyond" saṃsāra and nirvāṇa—possibly reflects the commentarial tradition where the Sanskrit bhagavat is interpreted, in addition, as "one who destroys the four māras." This is achieved either by reading bhagavat as bhagnavat ("one who broke"), or by tracing the word bhaga to the root $\sqrt{bhañj}$ ("to break").

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

One of the five or six classes of sentient beings, into which beings are born as the karmic fruition of past miserliness. As the term in Sanskrit means "the departed," they are analogous to the ancestral spirits of Vedic tradition, the pitrs, who starve without the offerings of descendants. It is also commonly translated as "hungry ghost" or "starving spirit," as in the Chinese 餓鬼 e gui.

The pretas live in the realm of Yama, the Lord of Death, where they are particularly known to suffer from great hunger and thirst and the inability to acquire sustenance.

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

The bodhisattva Maitreya is an important figure in many Buddhist traditions, where he is unanimously regarded as the buddha of the future era. He is said to currently reside in the heaven of Tuṣita, as Śākyamuni's regent, where he awaits the proper time to take his final rebirth and become the fifth buddha in the Fortunate Eon, reestablishing the Dharma in this world after the teachings of the current buddha have disappeared. Within the Mahāyāna sūtras, Maitreya is elevated to the same status as other central bodhisattvas such as Mañjuśrī and Avalokiteśvara, and his name appears frequently in sūtras, either as the Buddha's interlocutor or as a teacher of the Dharma. Maitreya literally means "Loving One." He is also known as Ajita, meaning "Invincible."

For more information on Maitreya, see, for example, the introduction to Maitreya's Setting Out (Toh 198).

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

Mañjuśrī is one of the "eight close sons of the Buddha" and a bodhisattva who embodies wisdom. He is a major figure in the Mahāyāna sūtras, appearing often as an interlocutor of the Buddha. In his most well-known iconographic form, he is portrayed bearing the sword of wisdom in his right hand and a volume of the Prajñāpāramitāsūtra in his left. In addition to the epithet Kumārabhūta, which means "having a youthful form," Mañjuśrī is also called Mañjughoṣa, Mañjusvara, and Pañcaśikha.

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

The ancient capital of Magadha prior to its relocation to Pāṭaliputra during the Mauryan dynasty, Rājagṛha is one of the most important locations in Buddhist history. The literature tells us that the Buddha and his saṅgha spent a considerable amount of time in residence in and around Rājagṛha in nearby places, such as the Vulture Peak Mountain (Gṛdhrakūṭaparvata), a major site of the Mahāyāna sūtras, and the Bamboo Grove (Veṇuvana) enjoying the patronage of King Bimbisāra and then of his son King Ajātaśatru. Rājagṛha is also remembered as the location where the first Buddhist monastic council was held after the Buddha Śākyamuni passed into parinirvāṇa. Now known as Rajgir and located in the modern Indian state of Bihar.

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

An important bodhisattva, included among the "eight close sons of the Buddha." His name means "One Who Completely Dispels All Obscurations" and, accordingly, he is said to have the power to exhaust all the obscurations of anyone who merely hears his name. According to The Jewel Cloud (1.10, Toh 231), Sarvanīvaraṇaviṣkambhin originally dwelt in the realm of the Buddha Padmanetra, but he was so touched by the Buddha Śākyamuni's compassionate acceptance of the barbaric and ungrateful beings who inhabit this realm that he traveled to see the Buddha Śākyamuni, offer him worship, and inquire about the Dharma. He is often included in the audience of sūtras and, in particular, he has an important role in the The Basket's Display, Toh 116, in which he is sent to Vārāṇasī to obtain Avalokitesvara's mantra.

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

Daughter of Śākya Daṇḍadhara (more commonly Daṇḍapāṇi), sister of Iṣudhara and Aniruddha, she was the wife of Prince Siddhārtha and mother of his only child, Rāhula. After Prince Siddhārtha left his kingdom and attained awakening as the Buddha, she became his disciple and one of the first women to be ordained as a bhikṣunī. She attained the level of an arhat, a worthy one, endowed with the six superknowledges.
